

Your Work Matters to God

Genesis 1:26-31; 2:15

Pastor Gerald Stigall

September 4, 2022

Introduction:

What does the Bible say about work? This morning I'd like us to gain a biblical view of work and then make some specific challenges as we approach our work whether that be as a student with homework or a builder who works on a home.

Before we affirm a biblical view of work, let's consider three popular understandings that sometimes are evidenced even by Christians.

Sub-biblical understanding of work:

- work is divided into two realms
- work is a strategic soapbox
- work defines my identity

Biblical Understanding of Work

1. God is a Worker (Psalm 111, 104)
2. God created you to be a worker! (Col. 3:23)

Four Applicational Questions:

1. What am I to do? I feel consumed by my work?
2. What is the balance between my work, my home, and my ministry?
3. How might I mature in work situations that are difficult?
4. How might my work matter now that I'm retired or unemployed?

Conclusion

May this Labor Day weekend be a bold reminder that each of us should approach whatever responsibilities we have as if we are fulfilling them as an act of worship unto the Lord.

Your Work Matters to God

Genesis 1:26-31; 2:15

Pastor Gerald Stigall

September 4, 2022

Introduction:

What does the Bible say about work? This morning I'd like us to gain a biblical view of work and then make some specific challenges as we approach our work whether that be as a student with homework or a builder who works on a home.

Before we affirm a biblical view of work, let's consider three popular understandings that sometimes are evidenced even by Christians.

Sub-biblical understanding of work:

- work is divided into two realms
- work is a strategic soapbox
- work defines my identity

Biblical Understanding of Work

1. God is a Worker (Psalm 111, 104)
2. God created you to be a worker! (Col. 3:23)

Four Applicational Questions:

5. What am I to do? I feel consumed by my work?
6. What is the balance between my work, my home, and my ministry?
7. How might I mature in work situations that are difficult?
4. How might my work matter now that I'm retired or unemployed?

Conclusion

May this Labor Day weekend be a bold reminder that each of us should approach whatever responsibilities we have as if we are fulfilling them as an act of worship unto the Lord.